

Number of References

Reading Guide

The body of scientific and technical literature has seen a growing interest since its conceptualization between 1996 and 1999, and especially since 2014.

In total, 79 publications on this topic have been recorded. This corpus has doubled between 2020 and 2024, compared to the previous period, which spans from 1996 to 2019.

It is worth noting that this approach, combining services at train stations and station areas, follows the upward trend in the number of bibliographic references more generally related to Transit-Oriented Development, the research topic to which this measurement tool is linked.
